Richard Abrahamson Tapped for Membership in Phalanx at Clarkson College of Technology.

Richard A. Abrahamson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Abrahamson of Argyle was tapped to a membership in Phalanx at the annual Clarkson college of Technology Moving up Day exercises on May 23.

The college's highest recognition society, Phalanx, was founded at Clarkson in 1928 to recognize student leadership in extracurricular activities.

Mr. Abrahamson, a business administration student, will be president of Theta Chi, a social fraternity, next fall as well as co-captain of varsity soccer team. He has also been elected president of Pi Delta Epsilon, collegiate journalism society for the academic year 1957-1958. This year he has been president of the Society for advancement of management, treasurer of the Board of Governors, and business manager of campus radio station, WNTC.

Mr. Abrahamson is a graduate of Argyle central school and is a junior student at Clarkson college, Potsdam.
